

Last, but certainly not least, Cosmo and Charlie flew all the way back to the African Savannah to look for zebras! Zebras are a type of horse, known for their black-and-white striped coats. Each zebra has a unique pattern of stripes. Zebras are social animals that live in small groups called harems, or large groups called herds. They are herbivores and eat mostly grasses. Zebras have excellent eyesight and can run for great distances. Both of these things help them avoid predators like lions, hyenas, and cheetahs.
